ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Alan Fogel, Ph.D., has been at the center of early infant and caregiver-infant research since the mid 70's. He has extensively studied the areas of attention and emotion, the psychology of sensorimotor organization, the development of nurturance and empathy, the dynamics of affects, and has undertaken significant cross-cultural developmental research.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The workshop will focus on somatically enhancing empathy in high-risk caregivers using experiential exercises that stimulate non-verbal social communication through co-movements, kinesthetic rhythmicity and empathy. These experiential elements will be a stepping-off point for theoretical discussion and reflection on how to use these tools with parents and other caregivers.
